

THE HEALTH MECHANIC

Michael J. Robb,
Owner of Fix24 Wellness Studio

Before he was Michael J. Robb, world-renowned chiropractic physician, he was working in the nation's nuclear weapons production program at the Department of Energy. His unique background enables him to blend mechanical engineering with natural health care to give his patients an unparalleled experience.

"I look at the body from an engineering perspective, meaning I look at it as a whole and not just the diseased parts," he says. "I like to see cases that other doctors have given up on. This is where I dig deep."

His team of doctors are highly trained in the biomechanics of the human body and aim to give every patient their lives back. He donates his time educating corporations all over the U.S. about how to avoid being a victim of spinal stenosis, the No. 1 reason for back-related surgeries in the country.

A self-proclaimed "Prescott Mountain Man," he enjoys hunting and being outdoors with his family.
